Peter Wild and Lukas Krattiger are joining the executive board at ACT

The Swiss-based currency and global macro specialist ACT Currency Partner AG is adding key knowhow by completing its executive board with Peter Wild and Lukas Krattiger.

Peter Wild started his career as a trainee at Bank Cantonale Vaudoise in Lausanne and Credit Suisse. After this he joined Bank Julius Bär at the Zurich and New York offices where he was head of trading and treasury as well as deputy branch manager. Then he continued as CFO of AIG Private Bank Zurich before becoming CEO in 2006. Since 2009, Peter Wild has been working for Bank Sarasin & Cie where he serves in the executive Committee and is head of trading & family offices.

Lukas Krattiger also becomes a key personality of the four-member executive board of ACT. The experienced foreign exchange trader has been working in Forex for over 30 years. Mr. Krattiger has worked for Barclays in London and Credit Suisse in Zurich (EMS desk head). Since 1996 he has been working for Citibank Zurich as the head of European Foreign Exchange Margin Trading.

The two new board members are going to support the Zurich-based ACT new business units. With their expertise, they will especially focus on the new strategy of ACT called “Prime Execution” and support the development of FX structured solutions. ACT as a highly growing currency specialist can count on further deep expertise and support from the newly acquired know-how.
